'HAWAIIAN FISH N CHIPS'
Tasty new venue in Queens' MarketPlace Food Court

For immediate release

Waikoloa Beach Resort, Hawai'i Island—"Simplicity is the key," said restaurant owner-operator Ted Debsky of his new Hawaiian Fish N Chips eatery in the Queens' MarketPlace Food Court. A little venue with big variety, Hawaiian Fish N Chips features fresh local fish, grilled, smoked, or seared for salads, fried up for sandwiches or served with select noodle dishes.

"We like to think of it as a "fresh seafood bistro," said Debsky. Originally from Poland, Debsky has been an island restaurateur for years, formerly running the popular Kings' Court Pizza & Grill and Senor Nachos Mexican Restaurant at the Kings' Shops. With HFC, he hopes to share not only familiar fare like fish and chips, but unique local specialties, such as oxtail udon soup, made with fresh oxtail from Honokaa, and broiled eel with a Japanese eel sauce.

Debsky said that Hawaiian Fish N Chips smokes fresh local fish in-house and every day's menu may feature different flavors. Homemade sauces, the chef's specialty, will include chipotle aioli mayonnaise, featured on their calamari salad, a wasabi-garlic mayonnaise for the grilled fish sandwich and tartar sauce with fresh pickles, onion and capers. And, to enhance the ocean bounty, Big Island vegetables and fresh baked breads and buns from Mamane Bakery round out the flavorful menu.

Hawaiian Fish N Chips is open 10:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. daily in Queens' MarketPlace food court. For more information, call (808) 886-1595.

Since it opened in 2007, Queens' MarketPlace in Waikoloa Beach Resort has earned a reputation among visitors and kama'āina as "the gathering place of the Kohala Coast," full of shopping opportunities, services and great food, along with entertainment and arts programs, movies under the stars and large-scale concerts in Waikoloa Bowl at Queens' Gardens.
